The Opportunity

Scale your credentialing processing power

Your medical staff services team works longer hours to keep up with increasing volumes of credentialing and recredentialing, yet delays still hinder your physician acquisition strategy, decrease physician satisfaction, and reduce your revenue potential. Your organization lacks the staff, technology, and resources to keep up with this growing backlog.

Each day added to the physician credentialing timeline means leaving $9,000 of revenue per physician on the table and keeps your organization stuck in an inefficient credentialing cycle. At a time when financial pressure is the number-one concern of most healthcare executives, it's past time to stop accepting business-as-usual inefficiencies.

What would it mean to your organization if you could:

- Empower your team to scale credentialing and onboard new providers faster, so they're satisfied and loyal from the start?

- Have every tool you need to collect, verify, and share all provider lifecycle data in one place, saving staff resources and containing costs?

- Credential and privilege providers more quickly and confidently, so patients get fast access to care with fewer operational risks?

- Reduce time spent on primary source verification and payer enrollment—by 30% or more, letting medical services professional work to the top of their profession?

- Get the support you need to execute your growth and physician acquisition strategy with confidence?
